SONG OF MYSELF

Along the lonesome road of life,

Amongst its thorns and brine

Begin did I soundless like

Afraid to move ahead.

Yet forward I go, search I do

Not sure for what I seek

Still looking never the less: to know

For Knowledge means my life.

A thousand surrounds, I in midst

I find myself alone

Yet, I plunge, struggling forward

To be now what I must.

Chris Cook

With my thoughts and fears

I sit alone

Patiently awaiting the dawn.

Drops of rain tickle the roof

As they slowly descend

To the ground

The darkness of night

Hugs me tight

Then filters out through cracks,

To fade away like a worn out day

From my life of the past.

When tomorrow comes we will all look back laughing at the tears
we shed
crying for the smiles
we miss

mirror of our minds

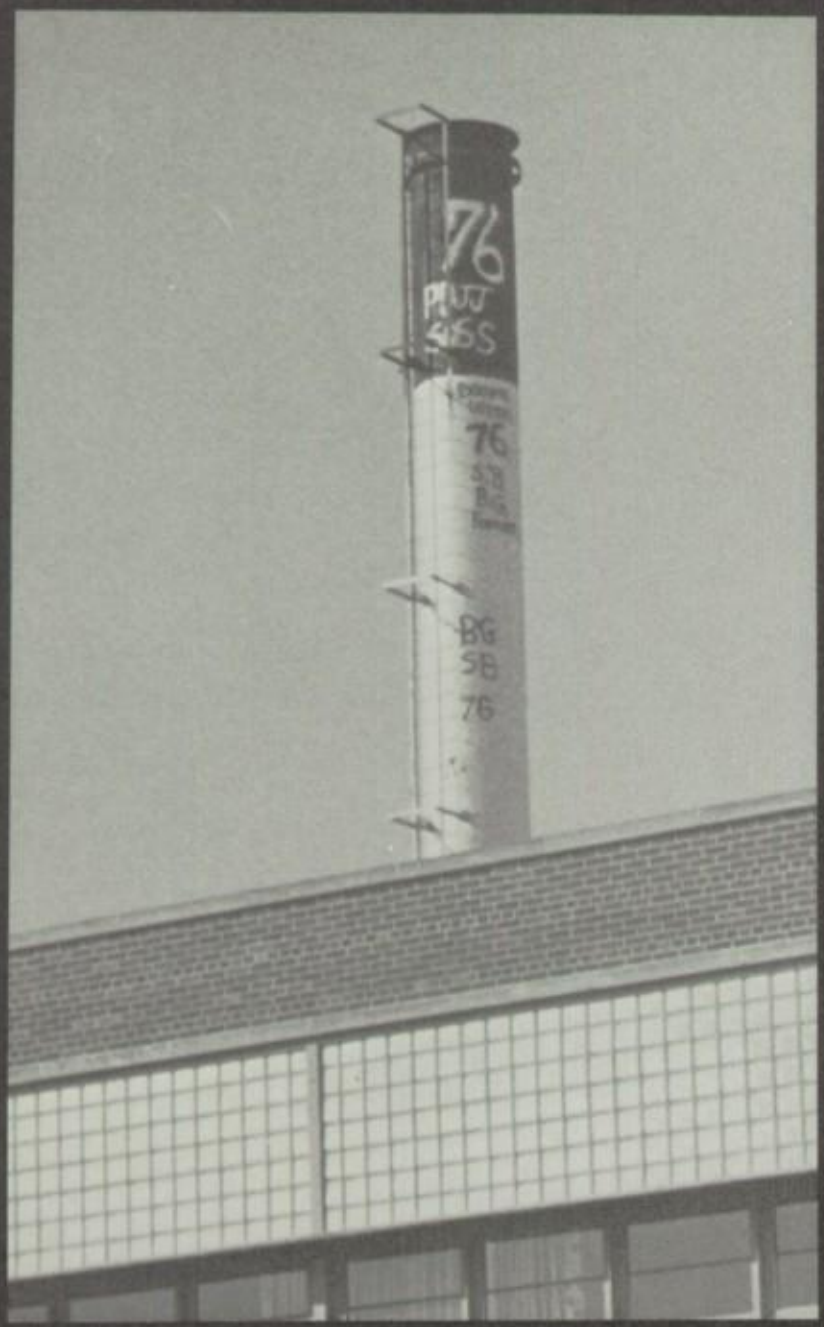
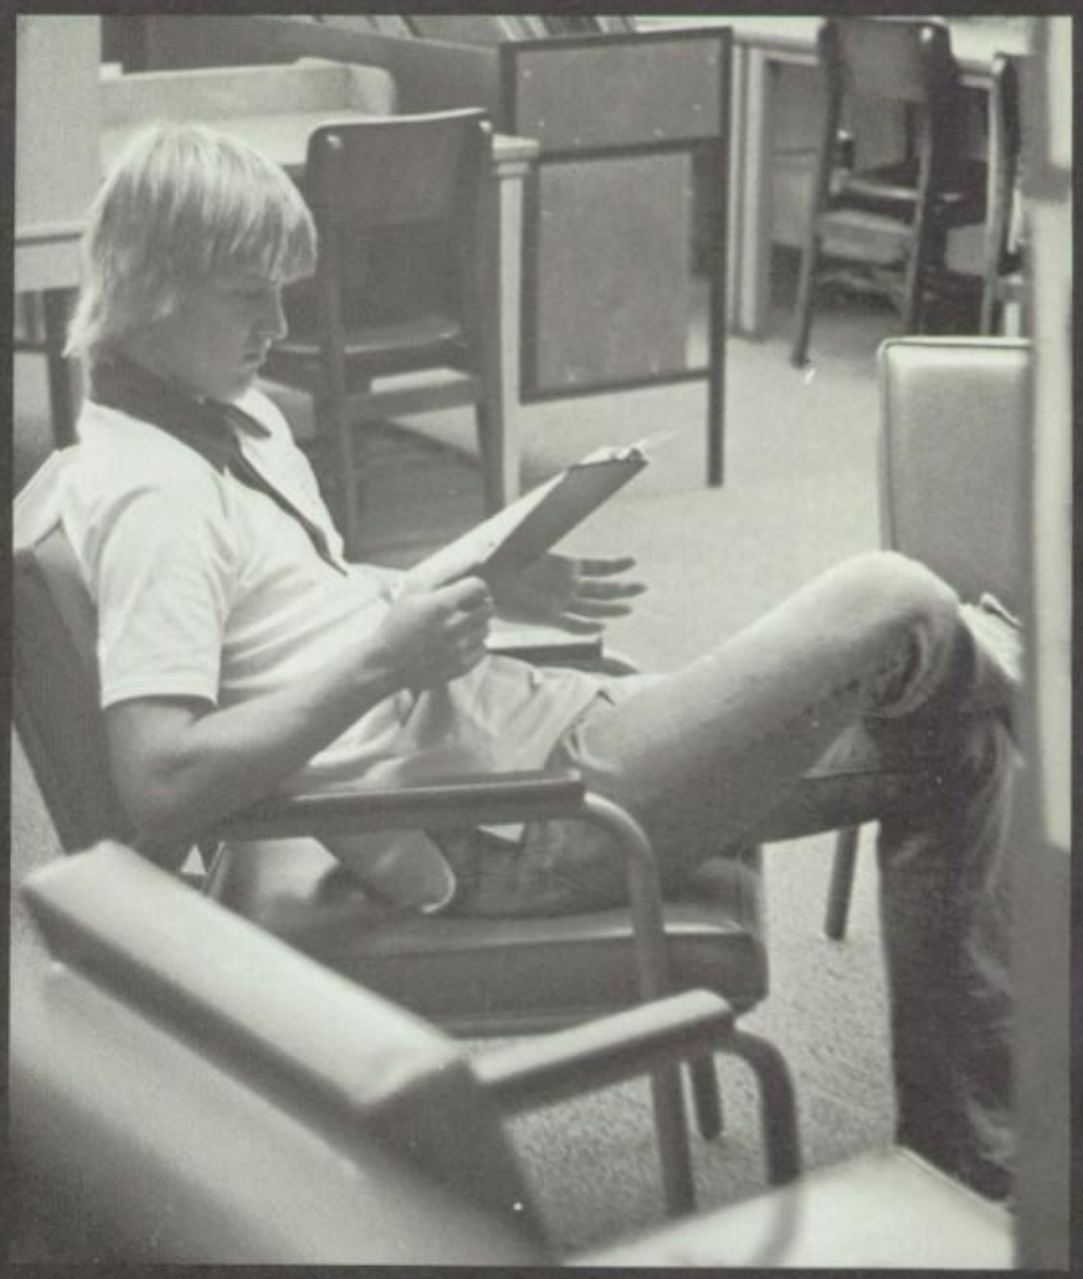
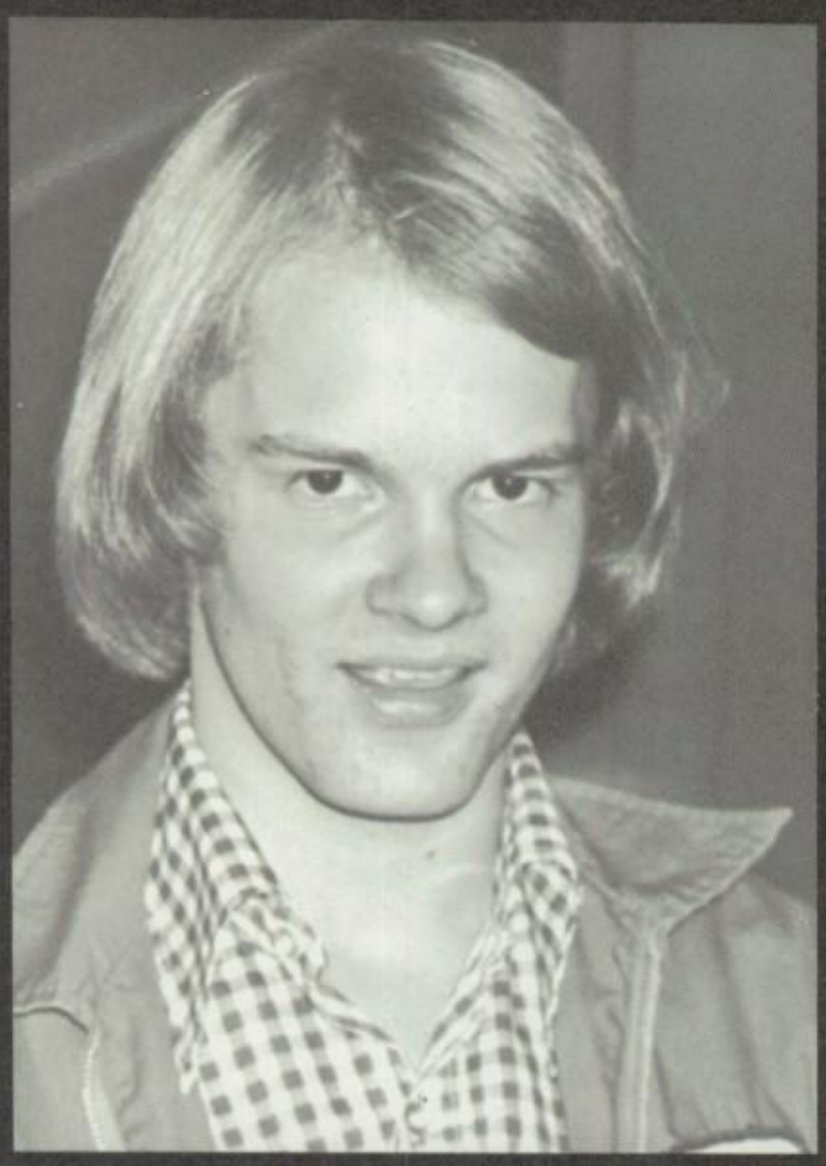
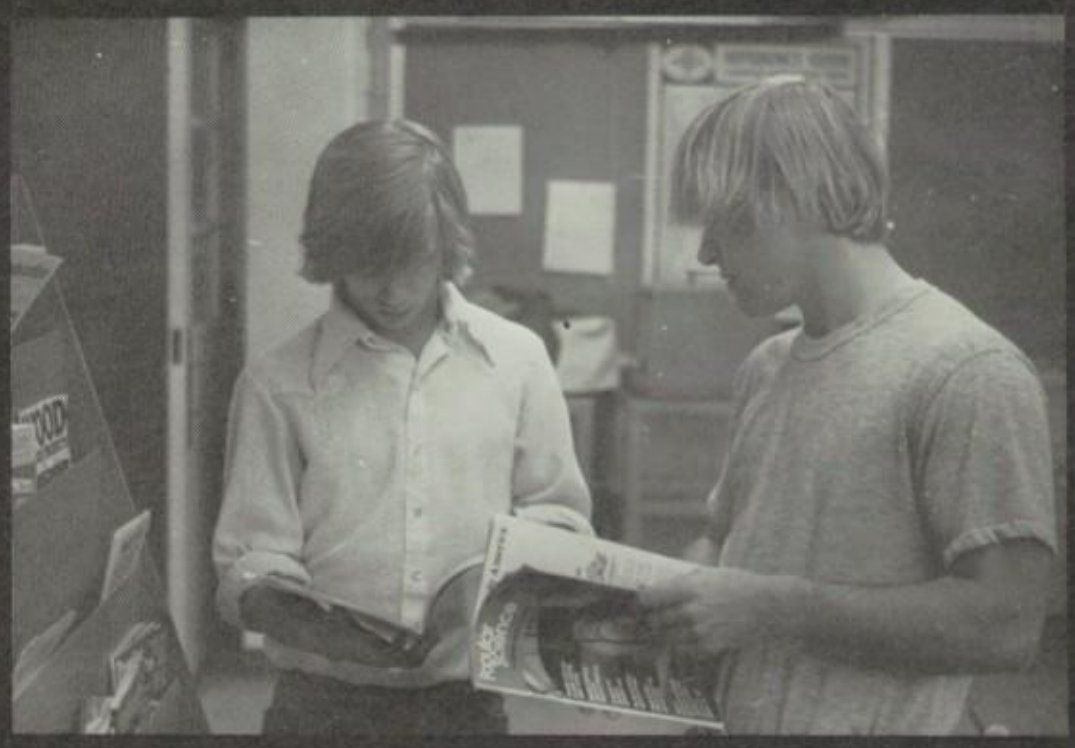
End of Class 5/19/72







Violins playing out the falling of leaves,
With abundant grace, the leaves playing along.
Autumn turns to winter, the spectacle of color.
Grace turns white from new fallen snow.
Ice covers the shimmering river.
The colorful rippling reflections harden,
Now showing only the light of the sun,
Yet even this comes to pass with the falling of the snow.



When daylight has reached its peak,
and night is on its way,
Even if it has been
another lonely day,
I'll smile a smile for you..

When it seems like darkness
will never pass,
And I find no beauty
in a blade of grass,
I'll smile a smile for you.

When we are alone together,
just you and me,
I'll hold you in my arms,
and smile a smile for you.

I am young, I do not know.
He is old, He has much wisdom.
I am limber, I cannot break.
He is worn, He cannot be scared.
I am sheltered, I do not see.
He is alone, He can observe all.
I am with him,
He is with me.

Registration begins year

The end of summer was marked by registration for the year's classes. Seniors, grateful to be starting their final year, doggedly retraced their steps while juniors wondered if the system had improved.

Sophomores, ignorant of the terrors of registration, spent the afternoon in fear of not getting the right classes with the right people at the right time.

Chili supper nets $550

Another successful Humanitarian Speech Award Chili Supper raised a profit of $550.

The regular fall event provided time to warm up before one of the final Cedar Falls football games.

Speech department head Merle Picht thought the event drew a good sized crowd. The award goes to a student, teacher or organization who is concerned and aware of the welfare of people.

Assemblies highlight student life

Assemblies filled the year with pep, band concerts, jazz songs and the regular holiday spirit cheerer-uppers. Attendance and spirits were high, providing enjoyment for everyone.

Pep assemblies filled the first part of the year and many participated in them. The beginning of each sport season was ushered in with a pep assembly. Pep band, pompon girls, cheerleaders and skits were the main features.

Jazz Band I and the Jazz Singers changed the pace with an hour of musical entertainment. Highlights of the show were Kathy Corning, singing "Killing Me Softly," and solos by many of the jazz band members and singers.

Special assemblies were held for Homecoming, Christmas and Sadie Hawkins. These assemblies were filled with a variety of activities.

'Here Comes the Sun' chosen Homecoming theme

"Here Comes the Sun" was the theme for Homecoming '75.

The week's activities began Saturday. Store windows on the Parkade were painted and each class was given a school hall to decorate.

On Tuesday, the Homecoming queen candidates and their escorts were introduced in an assembly. Candidates answered questions from Student Forum president Kurt Amend.

Jane Stemmerman was crowned by last year's queen, Kim Anders, during Thursday's coronation. That night, cheerleaders led the way to Holmes Junior High in a snake dance. A pep rally was held at Holmes.

Friday morning's pep assembly included a performance by the pom-pon girls and skits by the cheerleaders and lettermen. Floats from the senior, junior and sophomore and Food Services classes competed in the afternoon parade. During halftime at the night's game, it was announced that the senior float had taken top honors in the contest.

Homecoming Week ended with a dance at the UNI Commons from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Twenty schools participated in the Tiger Invitational Debate Tournament.

Des Moines Roosevelt and Valley High of West Des Moines shared the Sweepstakes Trophy presented at the completion of competition. However, Valley's debaters won the championship round against Roosevelt High and were awarded first place. Roosevelt placed second, and third place was taken by Hoover with a championship team record of 4-1.

In the Varsity debate round, Roosevelt took first place with a record of ten wins and two losses, while Valley captured a first place in the novice division with an overall record of 11-1.

Cedar Falls was not represented in the tournament since most of the debaters helped organize scoring results in the tab room.

Pompon girls take 4th in state

For the first time the Cedar Falls High School pompon squad competed in the state contest. Saturday, January 31, they all got up early and took a bus to Lamoni, Iowa. They competed against many other schools from Iowa and finished fourth.

These girls practiced almost every day after school. They practiced during the summer at least twice a week. Many members also attended pompon camp in August. Sessions lasted one week from 8 a.m. till 8 p.m. and were held at the University of Northern Iowa.

New uniforms were bought for the squad. To pay for these outfits, car washes and bake sales were put on during the summer to pay for the uniforms and jackets.

Pompon girls participated in football with the marching band, basketball and pep assemblies.

They did a wide variety of routines such as "The Entertainer," "Help Me Rhonda," "Hawaii Five-o," "Rock Around the Clock" and "Thank God I'm a Country Boy."

Vocalists dominate variety show

Twenty-seven students, including Jazz Band I, performed in the November 7 Variety Show.

The show was a successful one making approximately $477 profit. Proceeds were earmarked for student exchanges to cities such as Chicago, New York and Philadelphia.

Faculty advisor Bud Nichols commented, "Things went quite well. I thought there were more outstanding vocalists this year than usual." He said he would like to see more unusual acts in the future.

Masters of ceremonies were Claudia Corning and Russ Sult.

Relly O'Neil commented, "The variety show was really good and the Jazz Band too. I really liked Kathy Corning's song. But I thought there would be more people."

Kim Dirks said, "I thought it was really good. I do think there should be more publicity and more shows."

"I thought there were really some exceptional performances but there should have been more variety in the acts," said Theresa Pardoe.

'Christmas Carol' highlights yule

Charles Dickens' traditional Christmas tale got the audience into the spirit of Christmas.

Madrigal carolers showed their enthusiasm for Christmas with songs before and during the play.

There were three evening performances and two afternoon matinees. The show received two standing ovations.

Karen Ove commented, "The play was good. I thought Kurt Anderson gave a good performance playing the part of Scrooge."

Pattie Leonard said that all the actors portrayed their parts well.

Cast member Ed Blohn said, "The committees really worked hard and did a good job, especially on the set and furniture."

Director Merle Picht said the spring play, "The Skin of our Teeth," turned out well and the students' performance was excellent. It was presented April 12 and 13. About 30 people were in the cast and about 100 in various backstage activities.

Picht felt "The Skin of our Teeth" was one of the top six plays ever presented at CFHS. "This was a different type of play, a comedy-parable," he said. Also many more spots were open to people to participate. This made the cast size considerably larger than other years, Picht said.

Many of the students will be returning for next year's plays. The cast practiced daily for at least 10 weeks. Often they held both afternoon and evening practices, Picht said.

Senioritis reaches epidemic proportions

As the end of the school year approached (or some say, as the school year began), a malady known as senioritis reached epidemic proportions.

Despite its name, senioritis afflicts not only those on the brink of graduation, but those in the lower classes as well.

Sufferers of senioritis can be seen soaking up the sun on the lawn, between classes and during study halls, gazing dreamily out windows during class or aimlessly wandering the halls.

Open lunch enjoyed by many

Once again juniors and seniors were able to enjoy their hour of open lunch, while sophomores spent their hour at school complaining and putting up some good fights against it.

McDonald's seemed to be the most frequently visited place along with the other restaurants that had once-a-week specials. With the opening of a new Burger King, students spent the last several weeks checking out the place and its food.

During the winter months students often enjoyed a quick lunch and then went back to the school for open gym. As spring caught up with most students, the last months were spent sitting and relaxing outside.

Instrumentalists keep busy with jazz, marching, symphonic and concert band

Marching Band along with the pompon girls, twirlers Jane Stemmerman, Ann Souders and Rene Sullivan and drum major Timm Brom provided the entertainment at halftimes during the football season.

Marching band also performed at the first pep assemblies of the year and at the state semifinal play-off game at UNI's O.R. Latham stadium.

Pops Concert with concert band, symphonic band and Jazz Bands I and II was held during February. Special feature was pianist Stephanie Bloomer accompanied by symphonic band on "Rhapsody in Blue."

CFHS hosts six foreign students

Cedar Falls High School had six foreign exchange students, representing countries from both hemispheres.

Cedar Falls families hosted Peter Ebel from Sweden, Katie Davidson from Australia, Paul Muller from Switzerland, Veronica Rueckert from Chile, Michaela Stahnke from Germany and Holland's Margriet Verbeek.

Inviting other exchange students from around Northeast Iowa, Cedar Falls hosted a foreign students weekend.

The weekend was termed a success and faculty advisor Bud Nichols commented, "Overall this year was very good. The students participated in a variety of activities from playing chess to volleyball."

Sadie Hawkins activities officially began Wednesday, March 10. They started with the announcement of king candidates.

Nominated by the seniors were Brad Cook, Dana Deines, Mark Fullbright, Rick Olsen and Mike Willett.

The candidates were to answer questions and participate in contests. They are to reveal their athletic, creative, musical and speaking abilities at the assembly Friday.

The Olympics, was traditionally held Thursday night, were dropped. The reason cited was lack of enthusiasm and attendance by students.

Classes were dismissed at the end of fourth hour Friday. Attendance at the assembly was voluntary for students.

Voting for the king took place during the assembly in the gym. Dana Deines was crowned king Friday night at the dance.

The Sadie Hawkins assembly included performances by the pompon girls.

One of the dances was to the year's theme, "Thank God I'm a Country Boy." The senior girls jug band also provided entertainment.

The Open Pit championship game was played after the assembly. Scott Hogeland's Iowa Hawkeyes were the champions.

Iowa takes Pit crown

The Iowa Hawkeyes, led by captain Scott Hogeland, captured the 1976 Open Pit title, finishing undefeated in four games.

In the title game the Hawkeyes defeated the University of Nevada-Las Vegas 40-36 in overtime, as Hogeland led all scorers with 14 points. The champions' five starters included Hogeland, senior Dave Convy, junior Bill Bast and sophomores Jeff Curran and Jon Halverson.

The Rebels of Las Vegas, an all-junior team led by captain Scot Ender, included Tom Murphy, Tom McCann, Steve Miller, Jim Bruce and John Riley. Finishing third in the tourney was Tennessee, captained by junior Will Nodarse.

Fourth place went to Jeff Dotseth's Iowa State Cyclones.

Jazz Band, Singers present Blood, Sweat and Jazz VII

April 22 and 23, Jazz Band I and Jazz Singers presented the seventh annual Blood, Sweat and Jazz Show.

Sophomore Corey Hansen presided as master of ceremonies with junior Alan Cemore and seniors Kathy Corning and Kris Winter performing vocal solos.

The Forties medley included songs written by Tommy Dorsey, Glen Miller, Duke Ellington, Les Brown and Woody Herman and featured junior Dani Duke singing "Hello, Dolly!" a la Louis Armstrong. It was an audience favorite.

Other songs included by the Jazz Band, under the direction of Hugh Eicke, were "Signifyin," "Rock Odyssey," "Turkish Bath," and "Diane."

Jazz Singers opened their part of the show with "Brand New Morning," "Walk Softly" and "Sunny Sunday."

Jazz Singers also performed the popular tunes "Take Me Home, Country Roads" by John Denver and Elton John's "Border Song."

John Evenson was director of the Jazz Singers.

First All-School Festival 'a success'

CFHS's first all-school spring was considered a success by all those involved.

The festival was sponsored by Student Forum and it is hoped that it will become an annual event.

Nancy Gibson, who chaired the festival committee, said, "I'm very pleased with the way it turned out. I was happy that there were so many peoply who worked so hard and carried it through. I would like to see it carried on."

The festival featured a concert by the orchestra, band and choral groups in a tribute to the history of American music, a puppet show by the Patchwork Players and exhibits set up by students and faculty members.

Organization headed the annual employer banquet in the right direction, in spite of heavy rains the evening of the dinner.

Dr. E. C. Vorland, a local chiropractor, demonstarted his hypnotic ability on volunteers, entertaining the audience for 15 minutes while the volunteers "froze," sweat, laughed and cried at Vorland's command.

The annual banquet is a way for Office Education, Distributive Education, Food Services, Trades and Industries and Health Occupations students to say "thank you" to their employers for their training during the school year.

Three hundred ten students and guests attended the two-and-a-half hour affair at the Maucker Union on the University of Northern Iowa campus.

Prom committee chooses nostalgic theme 'We may never pass this way again'

Tennyson played for Prom '76.

They played many up-to-date songs and some "oldie but goodie" tunes.

Photographers Jon Crisman, Randy French and Doug Harris took pictures of couples as an Audio Visual Club fund-raising project.

Prom favors and decorations were provided by a committee of juniors and the theme was "We may never pass this way again."

Dress was formal.

Seniors ended the year with the annual senior party Friday, May 28. The party was planned by the parents of the class of '76.

The party started with a dance from 9:30 p.m. - 12:30 p.m. in UNI's Maucker Union. Semi-formal clothes were worn with Tennyson providing the music.

The film "Animal Crackers" starring the Marx Brothers was shown in the Union in two sessions following the dance. Bowling was offered in two two-hour sessions at Maple Lanes.

"Topeka" provided entertainment in the Union for a "Coffee House Interlude" between the bowling and film showings.

'Our Past Shapes Our Future'

Commencement exercises for the one hundredth class to graduate from Cedar Falls High School were held May 30 in the UNI-Dome.

Four hundred twenty-nine seniors received their diplomas.

The class wore red, white and blue gowns and were arranged to form a 13-starred flag similar to the one originally sewn by Betsy Ross.

"Pomp and Circumstance" was played by the band during the class processional. The band was directed by Tony Lund.

Invocation was delivered by the Reverend Iver Walker, whose daughter Brenda was among the graduates.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. James Robinson introduced commencement speaker Kurt Amend. Amend entitled his speech "Our Past Shapes Our Future."

Varsity Choir, under the direction of John Evenson, performed "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Principal Floyd Winter then presented the class to Board of Education president Joy Corning.

Mrs. Corning, assisted by school board members Dr. Jerry Jorgenson, Peg Anderson and John Deines conferred the diplomas. All were parents of graduates. They were Claudia Corning, Jeff Jorgenson, Kurt Anderson and Dana Deines.

The benediction was given by Reverend Walker and the band played the recessional "Proud Heritage."

Class of '76 colors were red, white and blue; the class flower was the red rose; and the motto "The harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph" by Thomas Paine.

Tigers share Big 8 conference title

The 1975 football Tigers finished the season sharing the Big Eight and Big Five titles with West and Central of Waterloo.

The Tigers compiled an impressive 8-1 record, good for a berth in the state playoffs. Senior Mark Fullbright led the offense with a new school rushing record of 1,066 yards, surpassing former Tiger Reed Hunemuller's record of 1,011 yards.

Fullbright was also named to the second all-state offensive team. Senior Steve Gibson was the team's leading receiver, snaring 14 passes. Other outstanding offensive players for Coach Pat Mitchell's Tigers were quarterback Dana Deines, center Dave Schmidt and tackle Darrell Van Lengen.

The stingey Tiger defense was led by senior co-captains Dale Eastman and Dave Rasmusson. Tops in tackles for the defense were ends senior Jim Robinson and junior Tom Murphy.

The Tigers had several other very aggressive defensive players including seniors Perry Miller, Mike Willett and Steve Courtnage. Specialty teams also did their part for the Tigers.

"The Jaws Squad," as the kickoff team was aptly named, was lead by such headhunters as seniors Brian Nedoba and Don King. The kick return team was sparked with dazzling returns including junior speedster Gaylen Geerdes' 86-yard touchdown run against Mason City.

The kicking game was superb for the Tigers with senior Scott Vognsen handling the placekicking chores. He connected on 21 out of 25 extra points and two of three field goal attempts.

Junior Tom Anderson contributed with outstanding punts as he kicked 28 times for an average of 39.5 yards per punt. Injuries hampered two Tigers. Co-captain Pat Weires broke his arm in preseason practice and missed most of the season. Senior Mitch Willett ruptured a thigh muscle in action and missed games. Co-captains for next season are Bruce Kittle, Bill Rohwedder and Tom Nero.

CF meets Dowling in post-season game

Cedar Falls' Tiger football team made the state playoffs for the second time in four years.

Their first round opponent was the number-one-ranked team in the state, West Des Moines Dowling. The game, played at O. R. Latham Stadium in Cedar Falls, was the last high school game to be played there. Cedar Falls lost 43-3.

One of the biggest highlights of the game for Cedar Falls came with only three seconds left in the game when Scott Vognsen kicked a 34-yard field goal. Another big Cedar Falls play came when Tom Anderson kicked a 74-yard punt that rolled out of the end zone.

Girls' swimmers finish year undefeated

Eight swimmers qualified for the state swim tournament, showing "hard work pays off," according to Coach Dick Marcussen.

The girls were undefeated during their regular season. "They could never have been undefeated without a team effort showing that being three deep in every position is important and that each member played a vital role in the team's success," he said.

The team had many outstanding individuals, Marcussen said, and they improved throughout the season. Performing well in the state meet were Rene Sullivan in the 50 and 100-yard freestyles and Jane McCutcheon in the individual medley and 100-yard butterfly competition.

Sullivan and McCutcheon were conference and district champs. Tracy Blanford was the district champ in backstroke competition. Also winning their events and qualifying for state were Shelly Mixdorf, Judy Robinson, Kim Eilers, Elaine Roy, Cindy Jergens and Deidre Deines.

Kathy Van Sant won the conference diving championship and qualified for state.

Marcussen commented, "Next year will be promising because we will have our whole team back except for four graduating seniors. With many new swimmers coming up, it looks like all the records will fall again if we continue to advance as we have in the past.

"How can these girls miss with their winning attitude and the fun they have in getting there?" he said.

Posting a 9-3 record, swimmers had the largest turnout since swimming started in 1969.

Since then the Tigers have had two undefeated seasons, posting a 75 win and 21 loss record.

Even though they will lose standouts like Todd Blanford, Reed Bro and Tom Sullivan from their lineup through graduation, they will have improvement in their younger swimmers to fill their spots.

Blanford broke the 60-yard freestyle record held by state champion Rick Ver Heul. Todd also holds school records in the 200 IM, 60 free and 100 backstroke. He was a member of the medley relay team that holds the school record. Todd has also placed in the state championships three years in a row, was a finalist in the medley relay, 100 fly, 200 IM, 50 free and the freestyle relay.

Head coach Dick Marcussen said, "Our team as a whole was strengthened by the fact that we had depth in all events, and this was a big factor in our success. We pride ourselves on making everyone a major part of our success for a season and its future. Without this we couldn't be strong from year to year.

"Every swimmer is important to me as a coach," he said, "whether their goals may be to be a state champ or just to be the best they can be and be an influencing force in our program. Our leaders are not always the winners from meet to meet, but the ones who show dedication, and have a good positive attitude and a good relationship to the swimmers."

Cedar Falls pins West, 31-27

The highlight of the Tiger mat season was the team victory over perennial powerhouse West Waterloo, 31-27.

The Tigers used pins from Steve Courtnage (155), Dana Deines (167) and Mike Willett (heavyweight) to seal the victory. The Tiger junior varsity stopped West also, on the strength of pins by Mike Johnson (155) and Bruce Kittle (hwt). It was the West JV's first loss in 88 dual meets.

Outstanding Tiger wrestlers on the senior-dominated team were Mike Sells (20-2) at 145, Mark Fullbright (16-6) at 185, Kevin Ott (25-3-2) at 132, Courtnage (22-6-1), Deines (22-7) and Willett (24-2).

In the Tiger Invitational Tournament the Tigers copped the team title with Sells, Courtnage and Willett taking individual championships and Steve Rink and Darrell Van Lengen taking second places.

In the course of the season the Tigers dominated their opponents on the mat winning 10 of 11 duals. In post season action, the Tigers easily outdistanced the field and qualified 11 wrestlers for districts. Then they came out on top of the district tourney, with six grapplers qualifying for the state meet.

Wrestlers win state AAA crown

The Tigers captured the Class AAA state high school wrestling title on the strength of three first-place finishes and a fourth, a fifth and sixth-place finish.

The Tigers sent six wrestlers to the state meet, all seniors. All of them placed. Individual titlists were Kevin Ott, 132; Mike Sells, 145, and Mike Willett, heavyweight.

Ott won his title match 5-1 over Scot Harmon of Marshalltown. Sells' final victory was 6-4 in overtime over Ken Gallagher of Columbus and Willett grabbed the top sport with a 5-4 victory over Mike Early of Davenport Assumption.

The fourth-place finish for the Tigers was by Mark Fullbright at 185. He was defeated in the semifinals by the eventual runnerup.

Gaining fifth place was 167-pounder Dana Deines. The eventual champion defeated Dana in the first round, 5-3. Sixth place was won by Steve Courtnage at 155. Finishing second in the team standings was Big-Eight Conference rival Fort Dodge. The last time the Tigers won the crown was in 1968 when there were two classes instead of three.

Gymnasts go undefeated

Girls gymnastics team members had a successful season, going undefeated 12-0.

Cindy Dirks was the most valuable team member, while Maria Christensen and Kim Dirks were also top scorers.

They set four new school records—Lisa Henry in the trampoline and Cindy Dirks with floor exercise, uneven bars and tumbling.

At the state meet Cindy took first in tumbling and Maria took third in the unevens and fifth on the balance beam.

Without returning lettermen, basketball team experienced a tough year starting three of four juniors most of the year in the tough Big Eight Conference. Coach George Sovereign said, "Next year will be a banner year in basketball. Hopefully in the future at no time will the Tigers ever experience an all-junior team." The team lost several games by a narrow margin late in the game when the inexperience became most apparent, he said. "Only total dedication to basketball in the off season will insure a winning season next year and in future years," Sovereign said.

Girls team advances to districts

The girls basketball team finished with 12 wins and 8 losses, in only their second year of competition.

Highlight of the season was beating Columbus 75-74, along with being sectional runnerup and playing in the districts.

Joni Rensvold set a one-game school scoring record with 50 points against Marshalltown. She also took the single season scoring record with 496 points, which is a 29.2 average per game in 17 games.

Theresa Pardoe scored 229 points in 18 games for an average of 12.7. Tracy Blanford scored 208 points in 18 games for an average of 11.6.

Ingrid Koch led the guard court with 164 rebounds in one season, a record. She also captured the career record for rebounds with 281. She took the season record for blocked shots with 69, and the one-game record for rebounds by a guard with 17.

Lisa Garrison won the season record for steals with 47, and was second in rebounding with 125. Linda Egner had 80 rebounds for the season. Diane Schoneman provided the team with a very strong reserve role in the guard court, coming off the bench to help out in crucial situations.

The girls softball tournament ended in a three-way tie.

Teams captained by Dawn McBride, Linda Egner and Lee Ann Strickler each won four games in the annual intramural event. Dawn's team won first, LeAnn's, second, and Linda's third.

Six teams of seven girls each competed in the tournament, and games were played on the field behind Sartori Hospital.

Mary Schons' team finished fourth; Barbie Grover's, fifth, and Julie Pederson's, sixth.

Boys finish 5-0

The boys golf team finished the season with an undefeated dual meet record, 5-0.

The Tigers won two of three triangulars and finished in a county quadrangular. Also they finished fourth in sectionals and tied for sixth in the conference. Sophomore Jeff Curran qualified for district play.

The team was predominately underclassmen with juniors Scott Hogeland and Tom McCann and sophomores Kevin Berggren, Rick Erickson and Jeff Curran dominating action.

Seniors providing leadership were Brian Stawarz, Curt Carlson, Mike Brubaker and Calvin Shepard.

Highlight of the season was setting a new nine-hole school record of 152 at Pheasant Ridge.

Going into the state meet June 7-8, the defending state champion girls golf team remained undefeated.

The Tigers breezed through their dual meet season. Denver provided their only tough competition.

Cedar Falls beat the Denver girls twice, once by five strokes and once by eight.

In the conference meet, Cedar Falls avenged their only loss of the 1975 season, winning by 24 strokes.

The girls won their sectionals by 68 strokes, defeating Grundy Center.

The Tigers prevailed in the district meet, beating Denver by 13 strokes.

Slight favorites to repeat as state champs in the June meet at Pheasant Ridge, the girls were led by senior Lori Van Hove, juniors Jill DeVoe, Julie Karpan and Sue Roberts and sophomore Mary Jo Cunningham.

1976, A new year for Tiger baseball

A rebirth of sorts was in the air when the 1976 baseball season opened under the coaching of Jim Renning.

New uniforms, new faces, and a new confidence greeted the '76 squad as practice began April 26.

Renning's team was led by returning lettermen Kim Bartling, Jon Cristensen, Dana Deines, Steve Gibson, Tom Hurd, Steve Rink and Jeff Scully.

Although a scheduled doubleheader with East was rained out, the Tigers started on a winning note by beating Denver 16-3 behind Hurd's one-hit pitching.

Inexperience showed in a 9-4 defeat at the hands of Don Bosco. East then dropped the Tigers in late innings 2-1.

It took tough pitching by Gibson and a bases-loaded triple by Deines to cut short a Charles City effort, 11-5.

The 33-game schedule planned for 1976 was one of the longest in history for the Tigers.

Injuries hamper track team at State

The Tiger track team had a highly successful season, remaining undefeated until the last two weeks of the season, when the Tigers were plagued with injuries.

Jeff Dotseth broke his foot and Jay Bradley and Bruce Acton both received injuries which weakened the chances of a strong showing at the state meet.

However, the Tigers' Mitch Willett won second place in the shot put competition, and Dale Eastman earned sixth place in the discus. Coach Cole Collinge was impressed mostly with new school records by Willett in the shot put, Eastman in the discus, Bruce Acton in the long jump and by the medley relay team consisting of Gaylen Geerdes, Tim Hemming, Jeff Espinosa and Brad Cook.

Next season the Tigers will have good strength in the relays with Espinosa, Geerdes, Bill Rohwedder and Hemming returning. Bradley will be back in the 440-yard dash and Kurt Lorenzen returns in the high jump.

Girls track team improves steadily

The girls track team won one triangular meet, finished second in four other meets and were runnersup for the second straight year in the County Big Five meet.

The girls finished fourth in the first Big Eight Conference girls track meet, behind Marshalltown, Fort Dodge and Ames.

The squad consisted of only twenty-eight girls, but by working hard throughout the season, they improved their times considerably.

Highlight of the season was qualifying the 880 relay and 880 medley teams for the state meet. Connie Boysen, Theresa Pardoe, Joni Rensvold and Janet Wiederanders were members of both relay teams.

Lisa Britzman went to state as a substitute on the relays. The 880 team won their heat at state, although their time did not qualify them for the finals.

Boys tennis team finishes 10-5

The boys tennis team ended their dual season 10-5.

Number-one seed Will Nodarse finished the year 9-5. Number-two seed Dave Reece compiled a 10-5 season mark.

Other top individuals on the team included juniors Jerry Steward and Bill Wolfe and senior Costa Dimitracopoulos.

The only Tiger losses came at the hands of West Waterloo, Northern University High and Marshalltown.

Coach Chuck Frazier's squad failed to qualify anyone for the state meet, but will have good individuals returning next year.

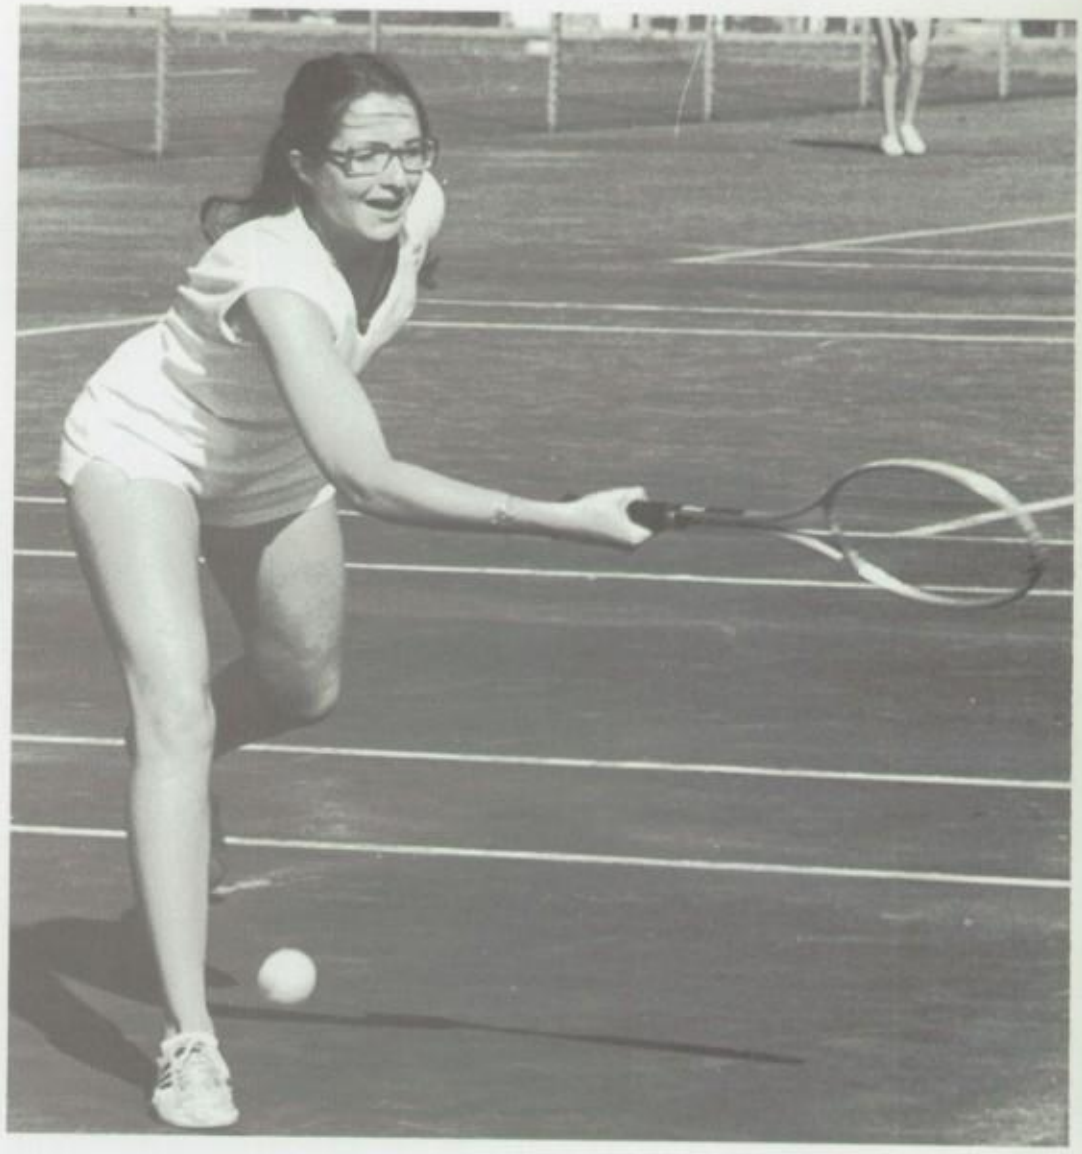
Girls tennis team finishes 6-7



Coached by Phyllis Ver Ploeg, the girls tennis team finished their season 6-7.

Led by seniors Cheryl Garrison and Sue Greenley, the girls fared well in sectionals. Elaine Lemons won her final round singles match.

In doubles, Greenley and Brenda Walker won their first round contest, and Garrison and Debbie Bakken won their opening doubles match.

The girls will have a good group of lettermen returning, headed by Bakken.

Other returnees, all sophomores, will be Carol Abrahamson, Lemons, Christel Bork, Lisa Hovelson, Kim Eilers and Lori Randall.

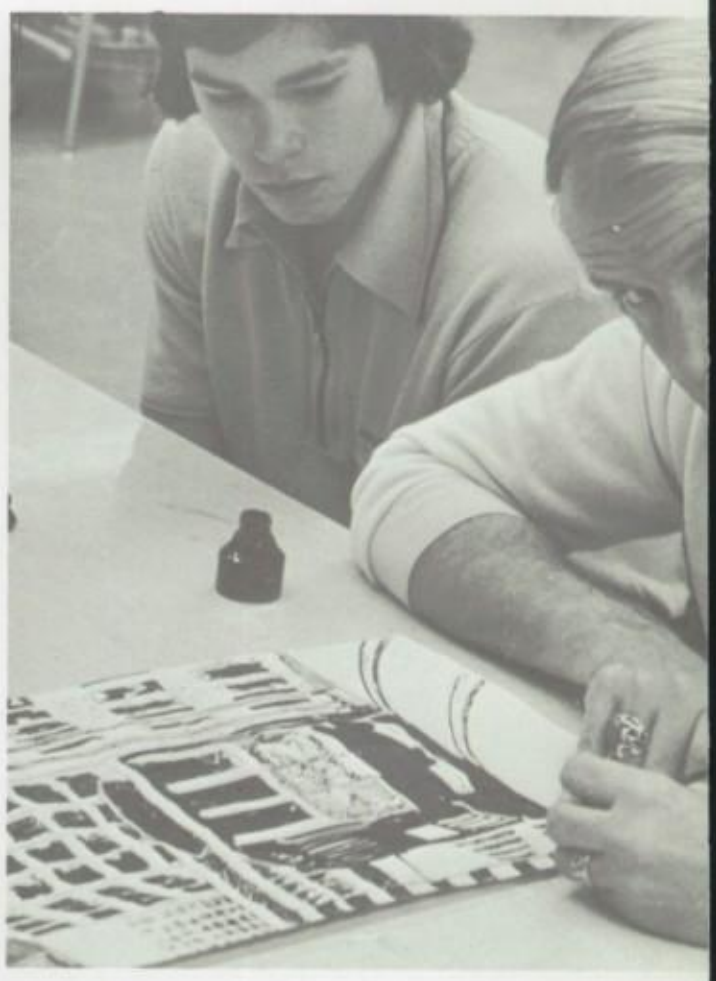
12 new teachers join CFHS staff



Twelve new faculty members joined the staff at the beginning of the school year.

They were Doris Arends, foreign language; Judy Benson, social studies; Kay Claus, English; Dean Dreyer, assistant principal; Phil Gansen, social studies;

Susan Kimball, English; Pat Life, learning disabilities; Jim Murphy, psychology; Tim Peterson, PLUS program; Pat Quinn, PLUS; Elizabeth Rath, home economics, and Jim Renning, gym.

Kelvin Schuchart rejoined the faculty in January as an instructor in the PLUS program replacing Rick Frazier, who resigned.

New teachers like CFHS atmosphere

All new faculty members said they enjoyed teaching at CFHS and liked the student body.

Social studies teacher Judy Benson found that "teaching is a growing experience and I learn from my students."

PLUS instructor Tim Peterson said, "I graduated from CF. Working with fewer students in the PLUS program gives me more time to form a closer relationship with my students."

Social studies teacher Jim Murphy said, "It has great diversity. I heard CF had a good reputation and I like my classes here."

PLUS teacher Pat Quinn said she enjoys teaching "because it's a challenge."

Phil Gansen, social studies teacher, said he liked CF when he substituted here before he was hired fulltime. "I like the atmosphere," he said.

Susan Kimball, an English teacher, said her husband was attending UNI and she decided to go where he was. "I like the English Resource Center," she said. "Most schools don't have one."

Pat Life, a special education teacher, said she heard CF had a good reputation and was a good school system. "I like the kids here," she said. "I can relate to them better since I have smaller classes."

Kay Claus, English teacher, said, "I like CF because I can work closer with my students."

Physical education instructor Jim Renning returned to Cedar Falls from another teaching position. "I like the faculty and the student body," he said. He added that he liked the relaxed atmosphere.

Nutting leaves after 31 years

Donald Nutting, a long-time teacher at Cedar Falls High School is leaving after 31 years of teaching.

Mr. Nutting came to Cedar Falls in 1942 and from 1956 - 1959 took a leave of absence to teach children of American military personnel in Germany.

When he first came to the high school, there were only 400 students and he taught industrial arts.

Then in 1963, the co-op program started and he divided his time between Trades and Industries and Auto Mechanics.

He also worked with the Health Occupation students and served as junior class sponsor.

Groups popular among CF students

Belonging to school groups gave students a feeling of accomplishment and competition. Lisa Garrison, who played volleyball and basketball, said, "It gave you the feeling that you were doing something worthwhile, instead of sitting around at home. We were out competing."

"It is a kind of neat feeling to belong to a group because you work as one unified branch and you coordinate your efforts together," said junior Greg Kelsay, who participated in newspaper, music and track.

Kris Winter belonged to a variety of groups, including sports, music, church and band. She said, "You get more and you become a unit with your own personal benefits like being physically fit, learning, etc."

"Just enjoying to participate" is the reason that junior Mike Lind liked to belong to groups.

Junior Carolyn Lindgren liked groups because, "It gives me something to do instead of doing nothing. It makes you feel like you've accomplished something, and it gives you a good feeling knowing that."

"To channel your time and energy into something that means a great deal to a person and gives him a sense of personal satisfaction" was the idea of senior Mark Fullbright.

Belonging to groups kept junior Sandi Davis involved and into things. She thought "each person has their own place and it gives all a sense of fullfillment and worth."

Belonging to track is what junior Kelly O'Neil did to get to know others and accomplish things as well as an individual.

Kathy Conradi liked to be with her friends, as well as meet new ones. She also thought, "people are fun."

"To give people a chance to do things on their own time" is why junior Connie Boysen belonged to groups.

And to junior Kathy Voss, "Things done in a group are much more fun and interesting."

But group activities are not for everyone. Junior Mark Sorenson said he worked after school, but if he had the time would like to be involved.

Junior Becky Peterson said she went out for sports and found that "the girls were snotty in competition. The cliques think they are too neat. If everyone comes down to size and treats everyone as an equal, it would make it worthwhile," she said.

"I'm not really interested in being in any groups," Doug Erickson said.

Overall, many people are involved in school activities, many were not for the same reason, and some would like to join. Quite a few enjoyed doing things together and got things done as a unit. Many believed that it gave them a worthwhile thing to do.

Classmates remember Bud

When someone loses his life it always makes us stop and think, but when he's a friend to all, we feel a certain emptiness in our lives.

This is the way anyone who ever knew Bud Smelser feels.

Bud was 17 when he drowned while swimming with his uncle in the Cedar River July 26, 1975.

Bud worked at McDonald's and spent his free time with friends and family or working on his car. He never seemed to find time to do all he wanted to do.

No one would have imagined that Bud would not have been at CFHS his senior year. We can all still see him telling us about his latest car race with that big grin of his.

The last lines of a poem written for him clearly express our thoughts for Bud.

In hearts of everyone.

The days we spent
Were precious times
And we're grateful, Bud!

Stemmerman competes nationally

"I had a lot of fun and met a lot of people," said Jane Stemmerman, who competed in the national pageant in Mobile, Alabama, as Iowa's Junior Miss.

Jane was met in Mobile by the Chamber of Commerce president , below, and got to talk with T.V. personality Michael Landon, who emceed the pageant. Before leaving Iowa, Jane met with Governor Robert D. Ray in Des Moines, right.

Girls competing in the pageant were judged on academic achievement, creative and performing art presentation, a ten-minute interview, youth fitness and poise and appearance. Jane won a $1,000 scholarship in the creative and performing arts contest.

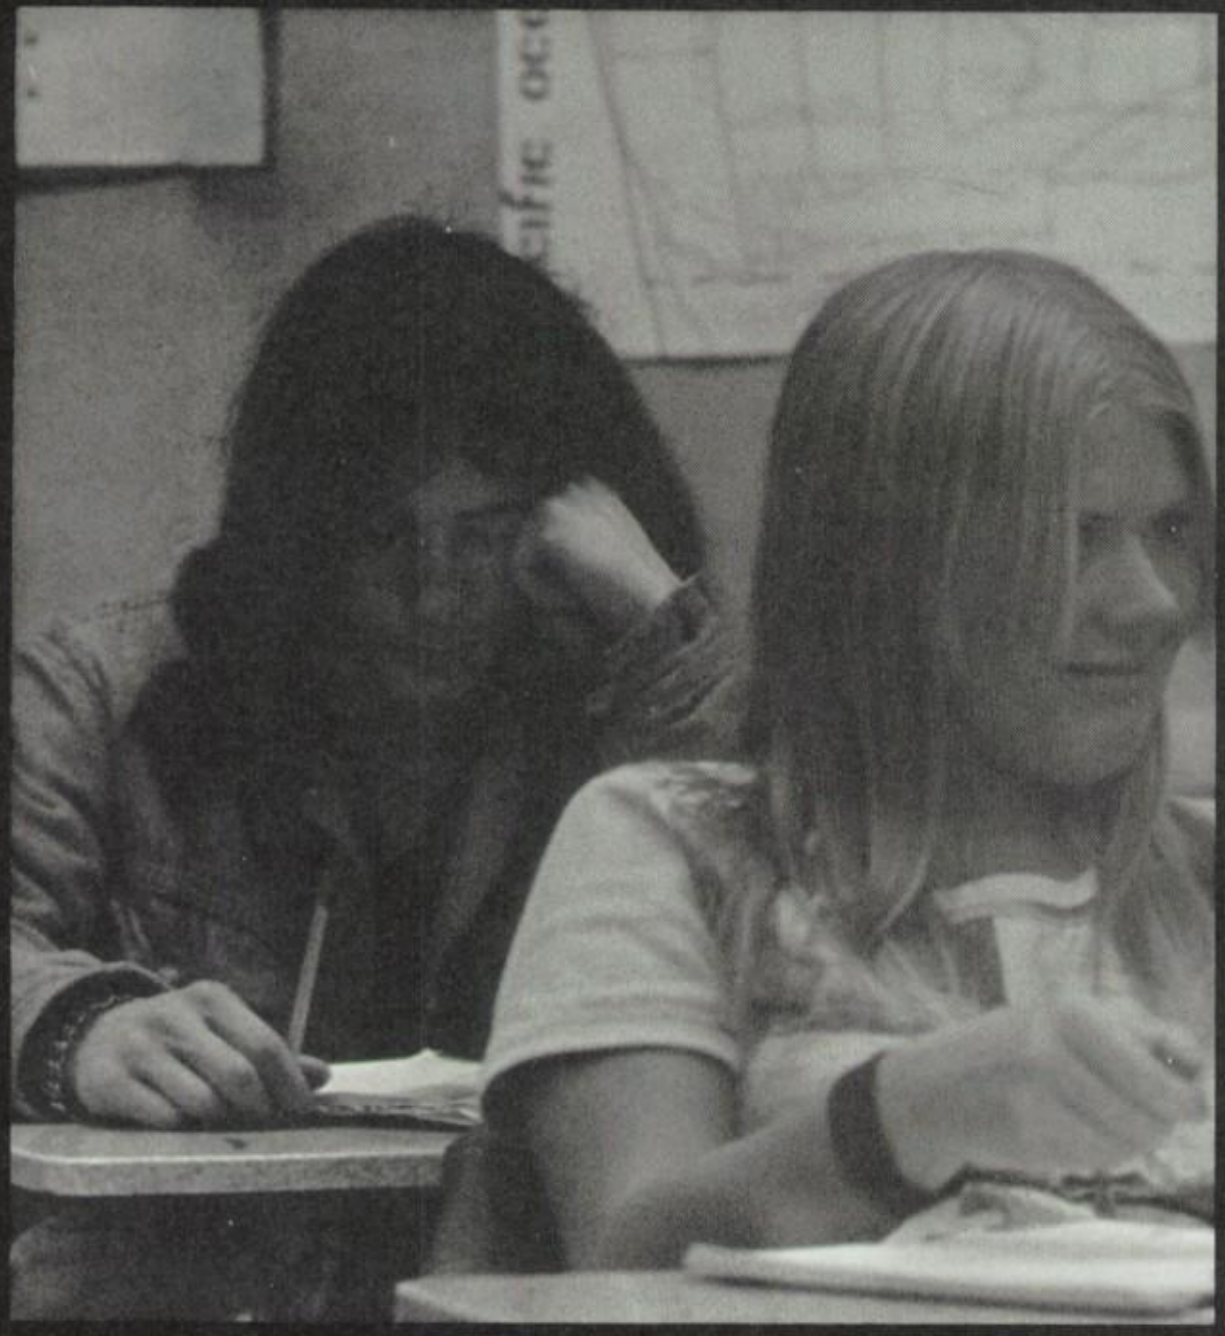
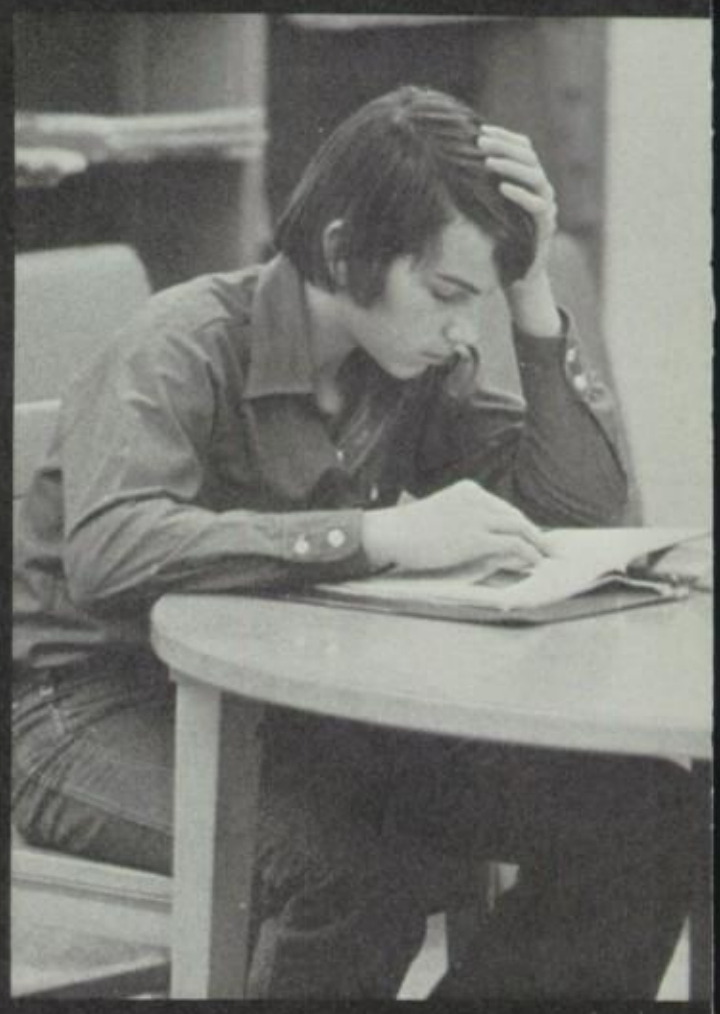
As the wind blew
A petal
Fell from the stem,
Releasing its place
To another.

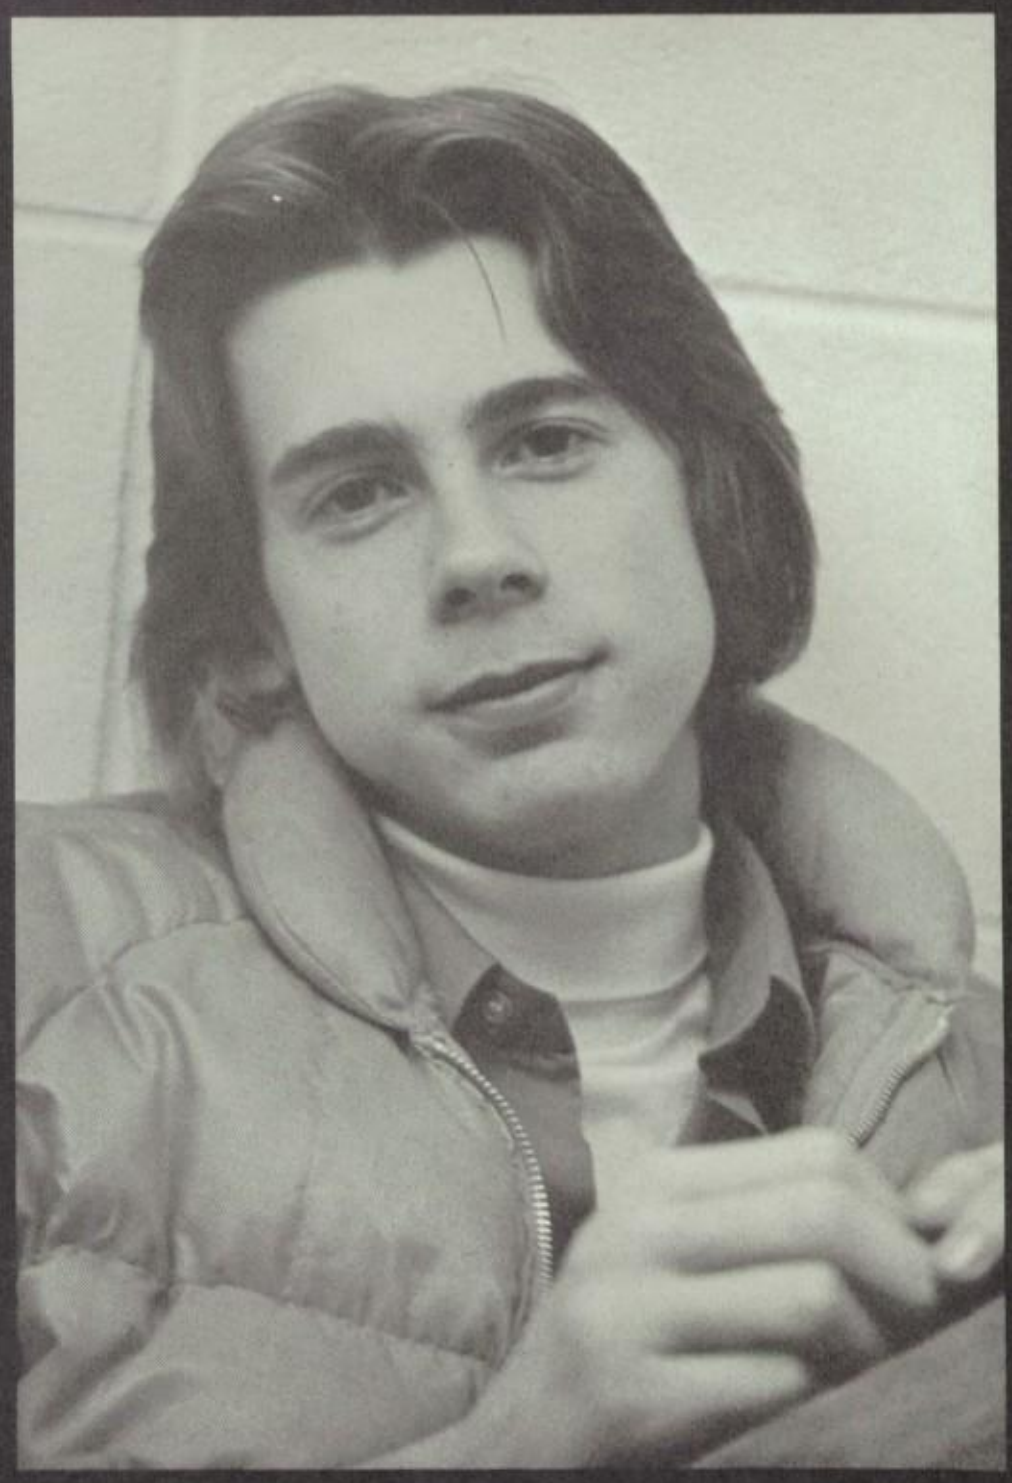
Chris Berg

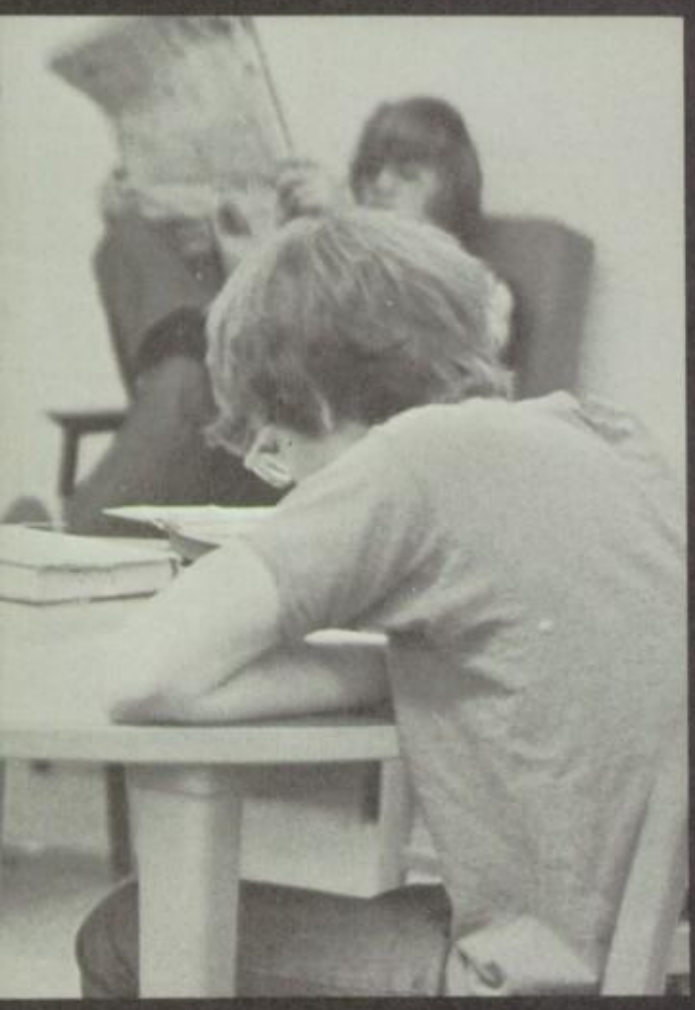




I am longing
For summers and like
A school room hair
Silently sits in its
Cover of dust
Patiently in a dark
Room as lonely shadows
Pass by the tinted glass windows.

Matthew Gogel





Reflections of the past.
Wanting to preserve the memories.
Wishing to see everything once again.

Reflections of good times.
Remembering the carefree times.
Hoping to relive them once again.

Reflections of bittersweet moments.
Feeling the hurt and pain.
Wishing to hide them once again.
